- web3-DREAM11
It is a platform where cricket teams and franchises can buy players. The marketplace operates via blockchain technology and facilitates the bidding and trading process for cricket players. The auction house marketplace works by inviting cricket players to register their profiles on the platform, complete with their cricketing statistics and other relevant information. This information is used to create mintable NFT's associated with each cricket player who chose to register himself on our platform. A live player rating is given at the end of the tournament to each player. Ratings of all players in a team are added and the team with the most point is declared winner of the tournament.
